Secrets and Lies 3 (The Ferro Family) By H.M. Ward

USA TODAY BESTSELLING SERIES
A sexy, funny new serial by New York Times Bestselling author H.M. Ward

They say the best way to get over a broken heart is a random hook-up. So my new BFF is dragging me to a bar. All I have to do is wear a slutty dress, choose a dude, and do the deed, right? The thing is, this isn't me. I'm the good girl -- the one who has sex for love. But, since the love of my life is shacked up with someone else, I guess it's time to move on.

One night, one time. That's all. I'll have a clean slate.

A guy with a sketch pad, sitting alone, catches my eye. I'm a sucker for the artistic type with dark hair and bright blue eyes. Soon we're in his hotel room doing things I've never done. His smoldering body, perfectly toned with hot skin and a firm touch, has my mind reeling with the things to come. We're both naked and glistening with sweat, breathless.

And then he darts, right before doing the deed, abandoning me in his room. He doesn't return.

A week later I see him again, and realize that he wasn't just a random guy. My heart clenches at the massive mistake, and I still don't grasp the extent of it. I should have run and never looked back.

Genre: New Adult Romance
This story unfolds over multiple volumes approx. 100 pgs each.

Just say it. The truth isn't that bad. Stop thinking, Kerry! You thought through everything with Matt and look where that led--he broke your heart. If you control this, if you call the shots, then it can't turn out that way. The words tumble out of my mouth, and I feel brave, reckless, and free. It's the insane trifecta I need so I don't back down and chicken out.

I turn to him, stepping in front of him before he can move away from the wall. "I need some comfort, and you do, too. I know this can't be, that it's not a long-term thing. Neither of us wanted that before, and let's face it--for all practical purposes, we have the weird relationship weirdness without the perks.I think we should finish that and move on. If friendship is next, I'm game. If there's nothing after this, that's fine. I don't want to think about tomorrow, and I'm dying to forget today. I figured you might want that, too."

By the time I say the last word, we're lip to lip. I'm close enough to kiss him,to press my body against his, but I don't. I leave the slight distance because I need him to say it's all right. He has to know this isn't some kid crush."Listen, you're not taking advantage of me. That's not what this is. I know what I need. I need a rebound guy. You need a distraction, someone who won't be around in the morning to cause problems. It's a one-time thing. It doesn't need to be more."

Nathan's breathing is heavier. With every breath, his chest swells and his nipples brush against mine through his shirt. The touch is faint, barely there. His eyes lock on mine, and I know he's torn. Pushing him is cruel, but we're on a clock. It's tonight or never. Before this, no one would question the hookup. Before tonight, I didn't know he was a teacher, and he didn't realize I was a student. All that baggage becomes an elephant in the morning.

He breathes my name and closes his eyes. He's going to say no. I feel it.

I whisper, "It's okay. I'll stay with you tonight anyway. We can watch Game of Thrones until sunrise. You don't have to be alone tonight."

It's over. There's no chance of anything with Nathan, and as soon as my hope falls to my feet, he pushes off the wall and steps toward me. As he looks down at me,his eyes lock on my lips. "That sounds like a good plan."

"You have my friendship, Nathan."

"Please, call me Nate."

I lift my lashes and look into his eyes. "Nate."

The corners of his lips twitch as a slight smile spreads across them. "Kerry."

I stare, knowing I can't taste. I should walk away, find some popcorn, anything to put some distance between us, but I don't want to move. He's still close enough to feel the heat from his body. The memory of his sinful skin against mine is still fresh in my mind. My fingers twitch at my sides as I resist the urge to touch him. I'm drowning in him, in his scent, breathing him in. I can't stay this way. Friendship requires distance and right now there is none.

He's a friend who had a hard day. Give him a hug and be done with it. I slip up on my toes so I don't mash my breasts into him too much, and give the most sisterly hug I can manage. He's surprised at first, but then I feel his hands on my back. He pats me, and when he begins to pull away, he slows as my cheek brushes against his. A strand of my hair catches on his stubble, so he trails his finger over my cheek and tucks it behind my ear. His hand lingers. His lips are right there, so close to mine.

I can't breathe. I don't move. His eyes dart between my eyes and my lips, finally lingering on my mouth until I have to suckin a breath. My chest swells, making my breasts press against his chest. I try not to breathe, but it doesn't help. The pressure of his body on mine is exquisite and unbearable at the same time.

My lips part and I stumble back into the wall. Nate moves with me, placing one of his hands on either side of my head. He moves slowly--as if he knows he shouldn't--sweeping his lips against mine. I shiver with the contact and feel my heart rate increase to frantic levels. I'm breathing like a hyperventilating asthmatic. It's so far from sexy that...
The thought vanishes when his mouth crushes against mine.
His sweet hesitance is gone.
