The Boy Most Likely To By Huntley Fitzpatrick

The romantic companion to My Life Next Door—great for fans of Sarah Dessen and Jenny Han.

Tim Mason was The Boy Most Likely To find the liquor cabinet blindfolded, need a liver transplant, and drive his car into a house

Alice Garrett was The Girl Most Likely To . . . well, not date her little brother's baggage-burdened best friend, for starters.

For Tim, it wouldn't be smart to fall for Alice. For Alice, nothing could be scarier than falling for Tim. But Tim has never been known for making the smart choice, and Alice is starting to wonder if the "smart" choice is always the right one. When these two crash into each other, they crash hard.

Told in Tim's and Alice's distinctive, disarming, entirely compelling voices, this novel is for readers of The Spectacular Now, Nick and Norah's Infinite Playlist, and Paper Towns.

From the Hardcover edition.

Editorial Review

From School Library Journal
Gr 9 Up—While readers met Alice Garrett and Tim Mason in My Life Next Door (Dial, 2012), that novel centered on Jase Garrett and Samantha Reed. This time, the focus shifts to Alice and Tim. Tim continues to attend Alcoholics Anonymous, while Alice still tries not to fall for him because of his checkered lifestyle. As he struggles to keep his life together, he has every reason to fall off the wagon when Hester, a girl from his past, reenters his life with a son she claims is his. Tim is forced to grow up in a hurry and figure out what is the right thing to do. The relationship between Alice and Tim blossoms as Tim's true character is revealed. This novel will speak to any teen who has ever had to make a hard decision. The author delivers a strong message without being heavy-handed, and the well-thought-out ending is considerate and will broaden teens' perspectives. This book is best suited for mature readers because of the strong language and sexual innuendo. Fans of the previous volume will have a greater appreciation for this companion novel. VERDICT Purchase where My Life Next Door is popular.—Karen Alexander, Lake Fenton High School, Linden, MI

Review
Praise for The Boy Most Likely To

"Oh, Huntley Fitzpatrick. You always know how to give my feminist heart a little romance. Thankfully we get to go back next door . . . with The Boy Most Likely To, a [companion] to the swoon-filled My Life Next Door."—Bustle

"Heartfelt . . . The well-defined characters, splashes of humor, and emotional entanglements of Fitzpatrick's previous works reappear in full force."—Publishers Weekly

"Pitch-perfect . . . Like Dessen or Blume, [Fitzpatrick] doesn't shy away from real high school life."—South Coast Today

"Utterly irresistible—a love story you'll fall hard for."—Deb Caletti, author of National Book Award Finalist Honey, Baby, Sweetheart

"A book everyone should read, regardless of age. A big-hearted, brave story filled with keen emotional insight, struggle, and utterly beautiful writing."—Kristan Higgins, New York Times bestselling author of If You Only Knew

"A mesmerizing romance between two teens, completely lost in opposite ways, who find themselves in each other. I couldn't put it down."—Jennifer Echols, award-winning author of Forget You and Going Too Far

"A wild, chaotic, crazy-awesome ride with characters who feel as familiar as home. When I hit the end, I wanted to start over and read it all again."—Trish Doller, author of Something Like Normal

About the Author
Huntley Fitzpatrick always wanted to be a writer, ever since growing up in a small coastal Connecticut town much like those in My Life Next Door, What I Thought I Was True, and The Boy Most Likely To. After college she worked in many fields, including academic publishing and as an editor at Harlequin. Huntley is currently a full-time writer and mom to six children. She lives in coastal Massachusetts.
