Editorial Review

Review
"Excellent text, with appropriate traditional argumentative theory and relevant advanced rhetorical theory. Easy to adapt to all varieties of argument courses. Extremely well organized and well written." --Russell T. Church, Middle Tennessee State University

"I enjoyed the text very much. My students found the material accessible and appreciated its affordability." --Mary Husain, California State University, Fresno

"The best and most teachable argumentation text I have read in years. Bless the authors for a text that focuses on argumentative concepts and not contest debating. Most of my students are pre-law or public relations and political communications majors, so this text will serve them well." --Don J. Stanton, Southwest Missouri State University
